Standoff on Yolo Street ends with teargas, gunshots

By Steve Marschke

A lengthy standoff at a house on Yolo Street on Tuesday, March 25, ended in the death of a 49-year old man who had reportedly threatened his two teenage children. The incident ended at around 8:40 p.m. when the man, who was "lying in wait in rafters of the garage," shot himself in the head.

One of several Davis Police Department SWAT team members searching the dark garage, responding to the gunshot, then shot the suspect three times. But the original shot by the gunman's own hand was a mortal blow, said Lt. Bruce Muramoto of the West Sacramento Police Department.

Just before 3 p.m., police were called to the scene of a "domestic disturbance" on the home on the 600-block of Yolo St. Resident Veer Chand had reportedly threatened his children while angry with his wife, who was out of the country.

"He punched his daughter and threatened his son," said Muramoto. The two later got out of the house. The daughter is 18 years old and the son is 19.

Armed with a semi-automatic handgun, Chand barricaded himself inside the house, and the Davis SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) team was called to assist West Sacramento police around 4 p.m.

"Police department negotiators attempted to communicate with the suspect for the next 2 1/2 hours," Muramoto said in a press release. "It should be noted that the suspect at no time talked to police negotiators during this incident."

When Chand did not respond to pleas from police to talk, they fired teargas into the home trying to get him to surrender.

"When teargas doesn't work, you have to go in and get him," said Muramoto.

So at about 8:40 p.m., SWAT team members entered the garage.

According to police, Chand fired the first round at himself, and SWAT team members responded to the nearby gunshot in belief they were being shot at.

"The self inflicted gunshot wound to the head by itself could have caused fatal injuries to Chand," said a press release from the police department.

Muramoto added that when SWAT team members entered the Yolo St. garage, Chand was above on a "platform" among the garage's rafters.

The shooting is under routine investigation by both police departments involved as well as the Yolo County District Attorney's Office.

Chand's wife has been contacted about the incident and has returned to the country. No one besides Chand was injured during the standoff. A handgun was recovered at the scene.

Tense moments

A man called police shortly after 3 p.m. on Friday, using a payphone to tell them he was going to commit suicide from a nearby bridge.

Shortly afterwards, West Sacramento police located him on the I-80 span over the Sacramento River near the north edge of the city of West Sacramento.

"When we arrived there, this guy was straddling the Bryte Bend Bridge, with one foot on the rail and one foot on the ground," said Lt. Bruce Muramoto of the West Sacramento Police Department."

The man was described as between 18 and 24 years old, but his identity was not immediately available. A car connected with the episode was registered to a Davis owner, according to police records.

The man remained for 10 to 15 minutes on the edge of the river, threatening to jump. Muramoto said he apparently was upset over trouble with his girlfriend, and an officer told him he could talk to her over a police car radio.

"When he approached, they surrounded him and grabbed him," said Muramoto. The man was taken into custody and placed on a psychiatric hold.

McDowell Manor:

Help design new center

A week from today, on April 9, the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency will host a public workshop to help design the affordable senior housing complex intended for the Merkley Avenue lot where the Vacation Inn used to stand.

The workshop will be held at 1:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the West Sacramento Senior Center, 664 Cummins Way, and advice from the public will be solicited on the necessities and conveniences deemed important for seniors. The workshop will include participation from D.H. "Mac" McCreary (executive director of Christian Church Homes, which is developing the site) and Bob Ogren, project architect.

The 87-unit complex, to be called the Margaret McDowell Manor, will be built at 1525 Merkley Ave. -- a freshly razed lot just east of U.S. Bank and east of Jefferson Blvd.

For more information on the workshop, call Joanne Auerbach or Tina Gontarski at the redevelopment agency, 373-5843.

Drive-by shooting -- no one hurt

No one was injured although about a dozen gunshots were fired in a drive-by shooting Friday on Evergreen Ave.

Witnesses reported hearing about 10 to 14 shots, and then seeing at least two cars leave the apartment complex on the 3400 block of Evergreen at a high rate of speed. The shooting occurred about 10:20 p.m.

One witness told police the possible target of the shooting was a male resident of the complex.

Possible suspects, according to the police incident report, were Asian-American passengers of a dark blue Datsun two-door car and a light blue Toyota four-door car, and the suspects may have been known to the victim or witnesses.

More information on the investigation was not immediately available from the police department.

Commentary:

Vote 'yes' on rural fire protection funds

By Lynnel Pollock
Yolo County 5th District Supervisor

Property owners in the rural areas of Yolo County will soon be voting on a benefit assessment for fire protection. Some of you may have already received a letter and/or ballot from your local fire district.

Why is this necessary? Last November, California voters passed Proposition 218 which stated that property owners had the right to vote on assessments which affect their property. These elections are now being held to ratify the existing assessments that have been collected over the years for fire suppression. These are not new assessments, and none of these fire districts is seeking to increase the amount of money to be collected.

The elections are being held this spring because Proposition 218 requires all existing assessments to be in compliance with its provisions by July 1, 1997. All fire districts in Yolo County with benefit assessments will be conducting mail ballot elections.

Why do fire districts need benefit assessments? The fire districts currently using assessments include Clarksburg, East Davis, Esparto, Knights Landing, Madison, Springlake, Willow Oak, Yolo and Zamora. The money raised from assessments helps to fund training for personnel and to provide equipment the districts need. Most of the personnel are volunteers who readily give of their time to take care of the needs in their districts. In all these districts the amount of money obtained through property assessments is a large part of their total budgets. This money is essential to the districts so that they can carry out their important job.

I encourage all property owners to vote YES when you receive your ballot. This will Fair warning, after the fact. . .

The California Department of Consumer Affairs notified West Sacramento last week that the city would be the site for at least one data-gathering highway inspection site.

"Motorists, selected at random, will be directed to a uniformed inspection lane," said the March 25 letter from the state, adding that a 10-minute vehicle inspection and test, followed by a "remote" emission sensing device," would help the state learn about how to measure car emissions.

But when contacted, a spokesperson for the state allowed that the inspections were over with in this area, and that the letter was sent out after they were finished in order to warn motorists of some future inconvenience which had already happened.

Or something like that.

Wrapping things up with a garage sale

T. J. Smoot

"T.J. Smoot" is the pen name for a neighbor of yours who, alas, is soon to be moving on to greener pastures. His musings have appeared here every other week for the past two years, and have been a delight to many.

Seems like things are coming full circle. When we moved to West Sacramento six years ago, we had a garage sale, and I frequented Hollywood Hardware (HH) upon our settling in. Well last Saturday we had a moving sale, and the people who showed up represented a cross section of West Sacramento. I met a new neighbor or two, got better acquainted with a couple of others and met many, many other people who just wanted to haggle over something I would've gladly given to the Goodwill. But it was fun, nevertheless.

Neighbors from down the street bought our bookcases and a travel iron. It was for their daughter who has shed her kiddy furniture and wanted "grown up" stuff. My next door neighbor got the changing table I hurriedly built one night before Mrs. Smoot came home from the hospital with Jr. Smoot. It used to be a platform to change many little Smoot bottoms, but now that it's in her garden area, she'll use it to change many little plant bottoms. The man who sold us an old Kirby vacuum for $10 at his garage sale "way back when" came by and looked around. I don't think he remembered me as he poked and prodded in my wheelbarrow of shop leftovers. Four bags of cement went to a very nice Hispanic woman with a lunch wagon. I schmoozed her with my (quite choppy) college Spanish. She was impressed...I think. Anyway, she bought diez y siete worth of stuff, which in garage sale terms is quite a haul.

I even learned how to say "thank you" in Russian from one of my customers. The word starts with an "s,"... and I forgot the rest. A guy in a fireman tee shirt came by and bought our bicycle trailer. He got a very good deal. Later, an East Indian family came by and browsed. I told the father he could have whatever he wanted in my orange wheelbarrow. He found some treasures, and then bought a silver frame out of gratitude. Another neighbor came by to convey her best wishes on our move, and I tried in vain to sell her the two side windows I was previously planning to use for a bay window. And even though she didn't buy the windows, we had a nice visit.

It wasn't too long before the frenzy was over, and I packed up to make one last trip to Goodwill to drop off the stuff that maybe others would find sellable. But I still had another errand. After the garage sale, I ran over to HH to get a screw for a piano leg. Once inside, I walked up to the 20 feet of tiny drawers, a regular cornucopia of flat, phillips, and oval head fasteners that would make any do-it-your-selfer salivate. Turns out Mr. H saw me holding my piano screw while I paced the tiny screw drawers like a caged cheetah before feeding time.

"Can I help you?" said Mr. H.

"Uh, yeah. I need another one of 'these'," I held up the massive, odd-sized screw for him to see. Knowing I was in a hardware store extraordinaire, I made sure to use the customary technical terminology they're used to hearing from perplexed customers. He poked around in this and that drawer until he gave me his grave diagnosis.

"Sorry, don't have that one. Looks like yours is a '20.' The highest we have is an '18.'

I can't say I wasn't discouraged. But I knew I was in the presence of a hardware master and implicitly interpreted his answer as a referral to a piano shop. Maybe he conveyed this via a mind meld, maybe it was ESP. But whatever the case, I got the info that I needed and went on my merry way. "Ahhh, a '20.' O.K. Thanks."

Chances are that will be my last trip to HH since we're pulling up stakes and moving the tent along. As we drive that big truck along the interstate, parts of West Sacramento will be tucked away in a box here or there. It was here that we had our two kids. It was here that we bought our first house. It was here that we sold our first house. It was here that I first moved a 30 year-old tree (which I'll never do again!).

Sometimes it's the last things people say that are the most important to them. Like when I left Mrs. Smoot's arms to fly to Florida recently, she lovingly asked, "Hon' where are the insurance papers?" It is my hope that from my scratchings some readers will better appreciate those around them, enjoy life a little more, make life a little better for someone else, and have faith in God. What else is there in life that's of lasting value? Well, you all take care. Writing the past two years for you all has been fun.

-- T.J. Smoot.

The Giants open the season at home this week against the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Oakland A's will entertain the Cleveland Indians across the Bay. The Giants will be looking for a new third baseman because the newly acquired Mark Lewis injured his throwing arm and will be put on the 15 day disabled list. The Giants are searching for a replacement to fill in for Gold Glove winner and former Giants All-Star Matt Williams, who was traded during the off season.

The Giants finished spring training with a 17-13 record while the A's were 16-12 and both teams have assured themselves of at least a .500 record. Both teams will have to improve on the their pitching staffs to make a good run the pennant.

Julio Cesar Chavez won his 99th bout of his career this weekend in Las Vegas. Chavez looked awful in this fight, as he fought at 151 pounds, the highest weight in his boxing career. Chavez was paid $700,000 to fight unknown Tony Martin, who was paid an extra $10,000 from Julio's check to agree to fight over the 145 pound limit in their contract. Chavez needed to have a good showing to be in line for the winner of the De La Hoya vs. Whitaker bout on April 12 in Las Vegas. De La Hoya stands to make over $10 million in his bout to win the welterweight championship.

Kings' Korner

The Kings (29-43) return home to face the Houston Rockets on Friday, April 4. Their drive to the playoffs looks pretty bad as they dropped two games behind the eighth place L.A. Clippers and three games behind the seventh seed Phoenix Suns. The Kings have nine games left and begin a six-game home stand that will determine their playoff hopes.

After facing the Rockets on Friday, the Kings tangle with Seattle, Vancouver, Phoenix, Golden State and the San Antonio Spurs. Did you know Mitch Richmond has made an NBA-record six four point plays this season?

Mitch has nine in his career and is second to Michael Adams, who has 11. Everybody on the team is healthy, so there are no excuses, it's time to put up some wins or plan for next years draft lottery!

Raider tennis upsets St. Helena

From River City High School

Improbable? Yes. Unlikely? Definitely. But not impossible. The River City High School Tennis Team travelled to St. Helena last Tuesday to take on the number one-ranked team in the entire Sac-Joaquin Section and came away with a startling 5 to 4 victory. It was the Saints who knocked the Raiders out of the Section team playoffs in the quarterfinals last year before losing in the championship match to Justin Sienna of Napa. The Section runner-up title is not a new one for the Saints, who have won the championship once and finished second to Justin Sienna nearly ten times since the mid-1980's.

According to Raider Coach Dave Brooks, the Saints had just beaten their league rivals 6 to 1 several days before his Raiders came to town. Now who's the best in the section? Brooks doesn't even want to think about it. "I told the team before the match that this would be a good test for us, to play the best team on their own courts. I also told them that every now and then #1 takes a tumble. It was a terrific high school match and an incredible, unforgettable day."

As the overall match unfolded, it quickly became apparent that the result would be very close. All nine matches began at the same time and after four had finished, it as 2-2. The Raiders took #2 boys singles where Jeff Wright won 6-0, 6-2 and #2 girls doubles where Toy Soupanthavong and Loan Nguyen won 6-2, 6-3. The Saints were able to win both #1 boys and #1 girls doubles. A Raider win by Knonthavy Phouanglasy and Peter Santizo, 6-4, 6-3 in mixed doubles, gave R.C. a brief lead before Ahmad Fazel fell to the Saints Andrew Martin 3-6, 4-6 to even the overall match at 3-3. Three matches then went into decisive third sets.

In #2 boys doubles, Raiders Alex Klimushkin and Aaron Potnick lost a close one 4-6, 6-1, 4-6, leaving the girls singles matches to determine the overall outcome. Several days before the St. Helena match, R.C.'s Meuy Saechao defeated teammate Douangchanh Lattasima in a challenge match at practice, and so for the first time all season Saechao was playing #1 and Lattasima #2. Both girls won their first set against the Saints but then lost the second set. Lattasima battled from a 3-4 deficit in her third set for a 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 victory that evened the entire match at 4-all and then Saechao came through in the clutch with a third set win of her own in a 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 thriller. "I can't say enough about the determination of those two," admitted Brooks. "D.L. was down in the third but never gave up and Saechao, in her first-ever match at #1, hit another gear in her third set."

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

It's 'all ahead, slow' on the deal for city hall

Selling city hall:

West Sacramento remains intrigued by the offer to sell its interim city hall at 2101 Stone Blvd. to developers Buzz Oates and Frank Ramos, and will probably go ahead with the deal, and then start plans to build a more permanent city hall somewhere in spitting distance of West Capitol Ave.

This is potentially a good thing. Many West Sacramentans will simply be elated that the city got in and out of a land deal without losing its shirt (after disappointments in places like the Vacation Inn, Sacramento & Kegle and Lighthouse Marina) -- never mind the fact that there was no profit. The fact is, the city bought the building in the first place mostly to help the building's old owner, the Port of Sacramento, to come up with cash to pay its share of the costs of the new bridge next door.

(Oates and Ramos, in turn, benefit from the bridge, which will help open up development of their Southport Industrial Park near its south end).

Whether the terms of the present offer for Oates and Ramos to buy this building are good enough remains to be seen. The city certainly won't be getting a "steal" of a lease rate for any office space it needs to rent afterwards, but if the entire package of the deal proves reasonable, it will certainly be approved.

Assuming it does, new sets of questions will be raised.

Will the city shape the transaction wisely, negotiating a good deal for the public and avoiding "strings," "catches" and other entanglements?

We have seen Ramos and Oates make deals before, and then come back and renegotiate the public into more and more concessions afterwards. We have seen it with regards to the Daniel C. Palamidessi Bridge; the city of Davis has seen it with the Oates & Ramos subdivision called Mace Ranch.

Can we keep this from happening again, with the city hall deal?

And once the offices at 2101 Stone Blvd. are sold, can the city and redevelopment agency do a good, farsighted and shrewd job of planning and designing a new city hall -- one that gets the most bang for the public buck?

It will serve the public well to watch closely.

School board accountability

When we need to pass a bond measure for school financing, the schools belong to the community. When we need to select a new school superintendent, the schools belong to the Board of Education. I have always been of the opinion that the elected members of the Board of Educations are the representatives of the community; therefore, the community should have input into the selection of the superintendent. It is reasonable that a community forum be convened to evaluate all applicants for the position of school superintendent, and that their recommendations be seriously considered by the Board of Education prior to hiring a new superintendent. It is also reasonable to expect that a new superintendent be hired on a five to zero vote of the members of the Board of Education. Thus ensuring cooperation between the Board and the leadership of the school district.

The Washington Unified School District has been in a state of turmoil for the last ten or so years due to the inability of some elected representatives to put personal agendas aside and children's education first. Are we, the community, one more time going to say nothing, do nothing in regards to the education of our children?

Are we, the community, one more time going to say nothing, do nothing about paying administrators not to work? My tax dollars could be put to better use.

If you feel as strongly as I do about what is and is not happening in our schools, Sound Off! You can make your voices heard by contacting the elected representatives of the Board of Education, writing letters to the newspapers and by attending board meetings. Board meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month, elected representatives are: Ardeene Westvick, Nancy Candee, Patricia Flint, Hal Williams, and Irene Eklund. Their telephone numbers are available from the school district administration office.

City hall deal

More thoughts on the future of our present City Hall at 2101 Stone Blvd.:

1) For now, move just the Redevelopment Offices there, maintaining same there until our Southport area is at least 80 percent developed;

2) Rent or lease balance of office space to developers like Mr. Frank Ramos and Mr. Buzz Oates, who have significant interests in Southport development....forget about selling City Hall for now...maybe Nor-Cal Beverages across the street would later pay more than the $1.1 million City paid plus improvements -- remember, Nor-Cal was reportedly feeling the squeeze from the detours, etc. involving the Industrial Bridge infrastructure ($1.1 million being the offer by Mr. Ramos and Mr. Oates...);

3) Why not examine building (say) a three-story City Hall on property ALREADY OWNED BY CITY on northwest corner of Kegle and Sacramento Blvd.? (Build high enough for flood protection and parking beneath offices.);

4) If we cannot entice a buffet restaurant chain to remodel the former Raley's -- now vacant -- site across street (Kegle & Sacto. Blvd., NE), City should also consider buying that site and remodeling same -- either for offices or how about a recreation center: Would not entertaining/educating our youth be a big step in preventing them from getting into crime and we could help outfit many with a much more POSITIVE attitude for school and post-school years. And, yes, we already have a post office there. Either side of this corner would place City Offices close to County Offices, Police Department and -- very soon -- our Social Security office. (It has also been suggested that City examine sites across from County Offices/across Jefferson Blvd....)

As our City leaders ponder whether to remodel or relocate City Hall, some argue we already have it "centrally located." That's fine if we do not consider accessibility by those without cars. Even then, we have a rather unique layout of streets...somewhat limited in some areas. Are we ready to give away vacant property north of Merkley on West Capitol Avenue to the right business(es) whose (re-) location there would be so much beneficial to us (taxwise and otherwise) as enticements? Are we talking political or economic strategy? Or both? Should we sell this property to help finance improvements at Kegle and Sacramento Blvd. or at 2101 Stone Blvd., or vice-versa? But land use decisions such as these should be made carefully and the present City Hall location will become so much more valuable once the Industrial Bridge is completed that to resell City Hall to Mr. Ramos and Mr. Oates for $1.1 million would be wholesale giveaway; it would be like raising taxes or lowering services unnecessarily. Managing City Money properly is key to effective law enforcement, social and other services. And look out, here comes Welfare Reform this summer. Any new ideas, folks?

Insurance law wrong

The auto insurance law is unconstitutional, nowhere is auto travel a mere D.M.V. "privilege" as with commercial for hire-vehicles and carriers which state and federal courts ruled can be, by legislation, regulated, licensed, smogged, seat belted and "insured."

But not non-commercial conveyances now wrongfully and deceitfully regulated by the commercial vehicle code, excepting for physical impairment and the rules of the road, which the people purchased, and they cannot be charged for intra and interstate ingress and egress, say federal courts, in exercising the absolute inalienable "free right" of travelers transporting their property; meaning it existed prior to formal government.

Black's law dictionary implies a contract can only be entered or exited "voluntarily." Art. 1. Sec. 10 U.S. Constitution: "no state shall -- pass any -- law impairing the obligation of contracts," and "inalienable" is defined as "personal rights" e.g. or liberty, not subject to alienation (compelled insurance contract here) and such "rights" cannot be bought, sold or transferred to another, nor reduced to a mere conditional driving privilege.

U.S. and state constitutions by the people limit delegated governmental powers to relationships with the people, and not corporations and people. Governments departing their constitutional role and entering the commercial world lose their immunity and status as such and are equal to an individual and can be sued.

When confronted by an armed revenue collector with demand for improper travel permits, lien his property, sue him and all involved jurisdiction, demand a jury trial representing yourself; in 1994 mandatory insurance was voted down by the people and now lets demand 30 day legislative sessions limiting the take from the corporate nobility and salvage a remnant or two of liberty.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 11 feet 3 inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday.

Building in the Westgate district was brought to a temporary stop last week when five more homes were completed and placed on the market.

The number of inquiries being received for new homes in the Westgate district increases every day and many who cannot afford to purchase are anxious to rent in this popular residence district. Some homes are being rented by the Central California Development Company but the real purpose is to sell the property to those intending to make permanent homes in the locality.

Mrs. Carl Lindquist and Peter McClure went to Oakland and San Francisco last Monday on a business trip. They remained over night in Oakland and returned Tuesday morning.

Carl Lindquist, who is now at work in San Francisco, was a visitor in Westgate last Sunday with his family. He expects to remain at the Bay City for several months, while Mrs. Lindquist takes care of their home here.

The West Side Auto Camp reports that travel by auto has perceptibly increased since last Saturday. On Sunday the camp was crowded with 160 people and many were turned away to find accommodations in other camps in Washington and Sacramento. The new camp site owned by McNally & Partridge at the junction of the state highway with the new road leading to the M street bridge will likely be opened next week as an auto camp, but the service station is not yet ready to do business and awaits the time when the roadway will be completed.

Jack Carroll, owner of the West Sacramento Auto Exchange at Fifth and Margaret streets, left here yesterday to visit friends and relatives in Stockton. He expects to return today or early tomorrow.

Sam Davis, who was arrested for having liquor in his possession some time ago by Sheriff Monroe and federal enforcement officers, was in court last Monday before Judge Barry and pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. Owing to the fact that Mrs. Davis is an invalid and dependent on Davis' earnings, he assessed a small fine of $100 or fifty days in jail. Unable to pay the fine, Sam was forced to return to the county jail in Woodland to serve his fifty days and add to the burdens of the taxpayers of Yolo County. And in the meantime, it is possible that Mrs. Davis, in her crippled condition, may also become a charge on the taxpayers of the county. Davis acknowledged that he had liquor in his possession at the time of his arrest but declared that it was entirely and solely for his own use.

Pasqual Villapando was arrested last Tuesday by Traffic Officer Jacobs for driving an automobile at night with no tail-light, only one head-light, and the other head-light of the glaring kind. Pasqual pleaded guilty to the charge, and because he had but a few dollars in his possession, Judge Barry allowed him his freedom after paying a fine of $2.50. He promised to go out and get lights for his Ford and obey the traffic laws of the state.

Sheriff Monroe spent considerable time yesterday afternoon around Washington summoning jurors and keeping tab on bootleggers who had been cautioned to obey the Volstead law. Sheriff Monroe is not one bit afraid of the outcome at the next election and announced himself to the Independent to be a candidate for the office which he has so well filled during the past fifteen years.

Mrs. P. R. George has been appointed local registrar of voters by County Clerk Harry Saunders. Besides filling the position of postmistress for a great portion of the day, Mrs. George has been circulating through the homes of Washington, Riverbank and Westgate and has been taking up registrations as fast as possible. Many men who are engaged in shops in Sacramento during the day cannot be visited by Mrs. George and they should take advantage of the opportunity to visit her in the post office where she is ready almost any hour of the day to register voters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kilmunda, who have been in Los Angeles and San Francisco during the past week, are again sojourning at the home of Mrs. J. R. Atkinson in Westgate. They have been in California for several weeks looking over various localities with the idea of disposing of their holdings and business in Chicago and returning to California early next summer. They have cultivated many new friends in this section of the state and in all probability they will settle in Westgate after cleaning up their affairs in the East.

Mrs. A. F. Nickell, from Westgate, has been visiting her mother in Frontenac, Kansas, during the past two weeks. Word received from her a few days ago indicates that she is about to return to her home here, but on her way west will stop at San Pedro where some more relatives expect to see her.

James Jacks, arrested on February 22 for burglarizing the Palace Dancing Academy on Second street and caught in the act by the watchman at the place, appeared before Judge Barry last Friday, March 5, for preliminary hearing. The evidence produced against him was so plain that Judge Barry remanded him for trial to the superior court in Woodland and placed him under bail of $2000, which he was unable to furnish. He was taken to Woodland by Constable Wilson to wait for trial before the superior court.

School Site Change Requested by Westgate Property Owners Is Conceded by Trustees of District

Complying with a unanimous request of the property owners of Westgate the trustees of the Washington school district have selected a new site on which to locate a new school building for the accommodation of the children of Carly Acres and Westgate.

Following a largely attended meeting of the property owners of Westgate, an account of which was published in last week's Independent, the school trustees conceded that the original location would be the means of working a hardship on the children of the Westgate district.

The West Sacramento Company, through its bondholders' committee, immediately offered a substitute site and this was accepted as the location on which the new school building will be constructed.

The new location is about 1400 feet south of the state highway in West Sacramento and is on what is known on the official map of the district as Park Boulevard.

Park Boulevard runs parallel with the main drainage canal of the West Sacramento district and is separated therefrom by a distance of about 500 feet.

The school building about to be constructed will, therefore, be located on a piece of high ground nearly central between West Sacramento headquarters and Rucker's service station.

Bids for the school building are to be opened on April 2 by the school trustees. No time will be lost in finishing the building because the trustees want to make the school available for the meetings of the West Sacramento Improvement Association even before the regular time of opening the school for the fall semester.

The new location is agreeable to all the property owners of Westgate and is also agreeable to the property owners of Carly Acres.

This compromise was a wise act on the part of the school trustees because otherwise everlasting trouble would be on the carpet owing to the fact that the children of the Westgate district could not and would not attend he school were it located on the site formerly chosen.

The price of the lot, three acres, was reduced by the West Sacramento Company to $1500, or $500 per acre.

This settles the question of the location of the school and the trustees promise to go ahead as rapidly as possible with its completion.

Crowded Meetings Are Rule with West Sacramento Improvement Association Activities

Headquarters at West Sacramento were crowded last Friday evening by nearly 100 members of the association who were interested in the welfare of the district to such an extent that some of them came from distances between three and four miles.

A. M. Jongeneel, president of the association, presided at the meeting, and when the roll was called all officers responded to their names.

The secretary reported that there are now eighty-one members in the club and that several property owners of the district had asked that their applications be taken in.

It was decided at the meeting last Friday night that at the next meeting to be held, Friday, April 2, baskets of lunch provided by the ladies of the club would be auctioned to the male members and that the lady who provided the lunch should partake of it with the man who bid it in at the auction sale.

In this way the lunches regularly provided for the meetings would not reduce the funds in the treasury.

Motion was made and seconded that as many as possible of the association should attend the meeting to be held in the court house in Sacramento on March 22, when the question of granting a bus franchise to accommodate Washington, Riverbank, Carly Acres and Westgate would be before the railroad commissioners.

A resolution was adopted that the secretary send an official communication to the railroad commissioners endorsing the establishment of a bus line for those districts.

A delegation of the association was appointed to interview Mrs. George, postmistress at Broderick, requesting her presence at the next meeting of the club so that all those who wished to be registered this year might do so.

Another question that demanded considerable time of the association was the discrepancies in prices for telephone and gas service between that which is being paid in the outlying district and in Sacramento.

A suggestion was made that a farm bureau be established in the West Sacramento district and for that purpose and towards that end the officers were requested to attend the Elkhorn farm bureau meeting and secure the desired information as to how a branch could be located in West Sacramento or Carly Acres.

A resolution was also adopted at the meeting last Friday night endorsing the construction of a memorial bridge at the foot of U street in Sacramento. This bridge would be of immense benefit to the West Sacramento district and those present at the meeting offered their complete endorsement of the project.

Another motion adopted at the meeting was that all residents of the district should patronize, insofar as possible, all local industries and particularly should patronize General Petroleum Corporation products whose distributing plant is located in Westgate.

ONLY FEW VOTERS QUALIFIED TO VOTE FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Appointed by County Clerk Saunders, Mrs. P. R. George has been registering voters of Washington, Riverbank and Westgate during the past few weeks and continues now to visit homes in those localities whenever opportunity permits her to do so.

A new ruling lately announced by Attorney General U. S. Webb declares that only those who registered this year and prior to February 26 will be eligible to vote at the election for school trustee on March 26.

Mrs. George told the Independent yesterday that to her recollection less than twenty people in this district were registered this year prior to February 26 and therefore only those so registered will be eligible to vote for school trustee.

County Superintendent of Schools Miss Harriet Lee has sent out word to all school trustees advising them of this new ruling.

In previous years, the old register was used for the school bond election, but the new decision makes the old county register ineligible for electors of school trustees this year.

The school trustee election will have no effect on the people of Woodland, Miss Lee states, as the schools of this city are under municipality government, but will affect outlying country districts, the Winters, Esparto and Davis high schools.

Due to the fact that many electors of the county have not registered for the coming election, it is stated that the vote is to be one of the lightest in history. Electors have until late in the spring to register for the fall primaries.

Word has not yet been received in Woodland as to whether or not any hot races are expected in the outlying school districts of Yolo County, but it is expected that there will be some opposition in several of the districts.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT WEST SACRAMENTO AUTO CAMP

Under the guidance of Pearson Brothers, a wonderful change has been made in the West Sacramento Auto Camp and the buildings already occupying the block between Fifth and Sixth and Harriett and Mary streets.

Buildings that stood level with the ground during the past winter and that were damp because their floorings were practically in the mud, have been raised so that air can circulate underneath the floors.

Ten cabins that were considered unfit for the camp have been moved across the street to the other vacant block where they will be rented at a less price than that which prevails in the camp proper.

Last Wednesday there were at least thirty men at work in the camp, all doing something toward making it more presentable for tourists and more convenient for patrons.

All the old plumbing was torn out, new shower baths were installed and instantaneous hot water heaters were placed so that the travel-worn and weary tourists may have the pleasure and the enjoyment of a bath immediately after arrival.

Pearson Brothers also intend to fill the sidewalk fronting the property on Fifth street and to grade the camp proper so that the fall of water will be westward instead of forming puddles as it has during the past winter.

The service station for automobiles has been cleaned up, brushed up and put in shape to give the best possible service with the result that its patronage has increased many times since the new owners took hold.

A total investment of not less than $35,000 will be represented in the camp when the improvements in contemplation will be completed by the present owners.

That portion of the camp located on the east side of Fifth street will still be maintained for those who

FILLING OF GRADE FOR ROADWAY TO BRIDGE STARTED

The dredger Neptune has been in the stream just north of the M street bridge since last Saturday and has thrown up a great pile of sand on the top of the levee reaching a height of nearly twenty feet above the crown of the levee.

On top of this pile of sand a platform has been built by the H. V. Tucker Contracting Company.

Into this platform the dredger continues to dump great loads of sand from the bottom of the stream and on top of this sand a six-inch stream of water is being pumped by a sixty horsepower motor moving the sand westward to the low places, a distance of between 100 and 600 feet.

The stream of water pumped from the river carries the sand with it along the elevated trough and when any section becomes filled to grade the end of the trough is removed to permit dumping eastward toward the bridge.

In this way the entire borrow pit north of the Sacramento Northern embankment will be filled within the next fifteen or twenty days.

Excess water going in with the sand is conveyed backwards toward the levee where another six-inch pump is at work with a sixty horsepower motor pumping the excess water back into the stream.

Certainly the device is an ingenious one and has not been seen in this locality before.

Every bucketload of sand taken up by the Neptune measures about five cubic yards or five ordinary wagonloads. It may easily be seen that the work of filling the grade for the new roadway will not take long when the working device gets in proper motion.

There have been some hitches in the arrangement so far, but yesterday was the first day that the water from the six-inch pump on the river slope of the levee was able to handle the sand with any amount of efficiency.

The fall from the river levee to the western end is too gradual to carry away the sand in the quantities anticipated with the result that the filling has not been moving as fast as was anticipated.

The contractors expect to remedy this today or tomorrow and then the work of filling will go on without interruption.

ROCK ON RIVER ROAD AT CHICORY BEND

A bargeload of crushed rock was delivered during the past week at a point on the river levee near Chicory Bend, where a bad piece of roadway prevails at the present time.

The rock has been distributed under the direction of Supervisor Buckingham by the Alaska Packers Association team and truck, with the result that the road has been greatly improved in that locality.

NOTICE OF HEARINGS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by Reclamation District No. 900 that it is considering an increase in its 1997-1998 Operation and Maintenance Assessment for the purpose of covering its operation and maintenance costs. The current 1996-1997 assessment revenues already collected are not expected to cover all of the District's operation and maintenance expenses for the 1996-1997 fiscal year thereby necessitating this proposed increase.

The current assessment for the 1996-1997 fiscal year is $.15 for each $100.00 of assessed valuation as appearing on the Operation and Maintenance Assessment roll for the district with a minimum charge of $6.00 for each assessed parcel. The proposed assessment increase to accommodate the increased Operation and Maintenance expenses of the district is proposed to be $.20 for each $100.00 of assessed valuation with a minimum of $8.00 for each assessed parcel.

This proposed assessment increase will result in an assessment per acre of land within the district in the use categories listed below as follows:

Agricultural/Vacant Land - $6.00 per acre
Commercial, Industrial and Office properties - $200.00 per acre
Residential Land - $100.00 per acre.

The above per acre assessment values will be multiplied by the benefit factor assigned to the benefit zone in which the parcel is located. There are seven benefit zones in the district. The benefit factors range from .41 to 1.27.

The minimum assessment for each parcel under the proposed increase will be $8.00.

Property owners within the district may mail any protests against the proposed increase to the district's office at Post Office Box 673, West Sacramento, California 95691. Additional information may be obtained at the District's offices located at 1420 Merkley Avenue, Suite 4, West Sacramento, California 95691 or they may call the District office at (916) 371-1483.

The Board of Trustees of Reclamation District No. 900 will hold a public meeting on Wednesday, April 9, 1997 beginning at 6:00 p.m. at the West Sacramento County Service Center meeting room located at 500-A Jefferson Boulevard, West Sacramento, California 95691. The purpose of this meeting is to explain the necessity of the proposed assessment increase and to receive any public comments related to it. Thereafter, the Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing on the proposed assessment increase at its regular meeting on Friday, May 9, 1997 beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the district offices located at 1420 Merkley Avenue, Suite 4, West Sacramento, California 95691.

Following the conclusion of the public hearing the Board of Trustees may act upon the proposed assessment increase.

Millennium Rage: Survivalists, White Supremacists, and the Doomsday Prophecy.* Philip Lamy. Plenum Press. 267 pages.

Militias, white supremacists, survivalists, and cults continue to grow in size and number as their apocalyptic fervor sweeps the nation. Sociologist Philip Lamy examines the way these groups twist and distort meanings and symbols taken from culture and religion to promote their cause. Many believe that the Oklahoma bombers, the Branch Davidians, and the Unabomber are the new disciples. Their beliefs, suggests Lamy, offer hope to thousands of Americans who, in a time of escalating racial tension, feel disenfranchised and forgotten. The Christian apocalypse is used by these groups to "fan the flames" of hate and to mobilize against Satan's influence.

Rob Parr and David A. Rudnitsky.* Berkley Books. 191 pages. Rob Parr's Post-Pregnancy Workout.

Personal trainer to-the-stars Rob Parr has worked with Demi Moore, Madonna, Maria Shriver, and others to create healthy and fit bodies. In his Post-Pregnancy Workout, Parr helps women begin an individualized, total body workout that will help them to increase their stamina, lower their stress level, and attain lifelong fitness. Whether its been five years or five months since you gave birth, its never too late to get in shape!

Marine: A Guided Tour of a Marine Expeditionary Unit.* Tom Clancy. Berkley Books. 329 pages.

The bestselling fiction author of Submarine, Armored Cav, and Fighter Wing provides a rare insider's look into America's "few and proud" -- the Marine Corps. Tom Clancy's detailed exploration into the organization revered among military powers for its status, distinction, and achievements is fascinating. Marine is a first-hand account of the training, technology, and people who serve our nation in this time-honored institution. Photographs, illustrations, and diagrams are plentiful as are the discussions of technologies like the Wasp-class assault carrier, the Harrier II attack jet, and the AAV-7 amphibious personnel carrier.

A Natural History of Parenting: Emperor Penguins to Reluctant Ewes, a Naturalist Looks at How Parenting Differs in the Animal World and Ours.* Susan Allport. Harmony Books. 210 pages.

Naturalist Susan Allport reviews the dynamics of maternal and parenting behavior displayed among the species.
